REFUGEES IN LOUISIANA
The United States has been a leader in welcoming refugees who seek safety from persecution based on their race, religion, nationality, political opinion or membership in a particular social group. Following World War II, the U.S. began welcoming refugees and over time the system has evolved to have a strong infrastructure centered on public-private partnerships. Communities across the U.S. have recognized the important economic and social benefits of resettling refugees. Louisiana residents have played a vital role in the resettlement program and refugees have positively contributed to Louisiana communities. In 2016, organizations and communities across Louisiana welcomed less than 1% of refugees arriving in the U.S. In 2016, Louisiana welcomed 173 refugees and 973 unaccompanied children who were released to the care and custody of sponsors.

SERVICES AVAILABLE TO REFUGEES IN LOUISIANA
In addition to programming to support refugees when they first arrive to the U.S., the federal government provides monetary aid through grants to the state, Voluntary Agencies, and other refugee aid organizations for community and short-term refugee support. The Catholic Charities of the Diocese of Baton Rouge serves as the refugee resettlement office for the state of Louisiana. Primary program services include social and medical services, job placement, English language training, family reunification, and assistance with the citizenship and immigration process. Discretionary grants are also awarded to private agencies for various other self-sufficiency programs.

Another service available to refugees in Louisiana is the employment Matching Grant Services, administered by Voluntary Agencies in the state. An alternative to public cash assistance, private agencies match federal contributions and provide intensive case management services to help refugees get employed and become self-sufficient within 120 days of arrival.

“Through the work of Migration and Refugee Services of Catholic Charities of the Diocese of Baton Rouge and with the assistance of a group of dedicated volunteers, the family is making the transition from hunger and misery in a refugee camp in Zambia, Africa, to a new life in America.” --on the Kasongo family and their transition to the U.S.

REFUGEES MAKE LOUISIANA STRONG
Mariam Kurdadze moved from Tbilisi, the capital of the Republic of Georgia, as an evacuee in 2008 when extreme insecurity and instability in her home country flared up as a result of armed conflict with the Russian Army. She moved to the United States to play tennis at Tulane and spent four years as a star player for their team. Her presence has uplifted the program in its attempt to recover from the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina. Mariam has been a model student-athlete during her tenure at Tulane. Her personality and spirit are infectious and she leaves a lasting impression on those she touches. Mariam is set to enroll in Tulane’s business school this summer after a trip home, and plans to work with Tulane’s sports information department to help promote the tennis program.
